

A58 service area Kloosters pilot case

Challenge: reusing runoff water from the A58 highway for other purposes by stakeholders in the area.
Is the runoff water clean enough for reuse purposes, is the water use closeby enough for affordable transport, in relevant volume, enough storage to match supply and demand over time? Are there possibilities for shared use and co-investment with the community in water collection, cleaning, storage and transportation facilities?

